Results per Factor

Description	Result	Score (value)
DM (Distortion)	Somewhat distortive	56%
Category Result: It is likely that the candidate has tried to show himself/herself to be better than he/she is.
Q4 (Tension)	Quiet	58%
Category Result: He/she would be a quiet but active person with some motivation to do what you have to do. He/she is not impatient, but neither does he/she like things to take too long.
Q3 (Discipline)	Moderately Disciplined	50%

Category Result: This is a person who is concerned about respecting the main social norms and who, although he/she does not like excessive disorder, doesn't require everything to be perfectly in place and in order. For him/her "the best" is the enemy of "good."

Q2 (Self-sufficiency)

Partially Dependent

44%

Category Result: This is a person who would need the group but also possesses the tools to perform on his/her own.

Q1 (Openness to Change)

Open

56%

Category Result: This is a person who would be neither conservative nor extremely critical of modern ideas. He/she values his/her current beliefs but does not close himself/herself to analyzing or changing if the evidence or the times so indicate.

(O) Insecurity

Busy

67%

Category Result: This is a person who shows a moderate level of concern for problems and different situations. He/she worries, but this does not end up blocking him/her.

(N) Sophistication

Common

44%

Category Result: This is a person who would be moderately spontaneous and sociable. He/she would have the ability to take care of his/her personal life, and separate his/her personal life from his/her working life.

(M) Tendency to dream

Imaginative

50%

Category Result: This is a person who is open to using his/her imagination to solve problems, while still having his/her feet on the ground. His/her approach to tackling a problem is to brainstorm a bit before settling on a solution.

(L) Skepticism

Attentive

50%

Category Result: This is a person who is usually trusting, but not blindly and is attentive in case something seems strange. He/she is easy-going, but in certain situations can be more cautious.

(I) Sensitivity

Balanced sensitivity

33%

Category Result: This is a person who possesses a sensibility that is adapted to reality. He/she makes decisions based on both intuition and objective data.

(H) Social Boldness

Social

47%

Category Result: This is a person who would tend to be sociable, but not always be the one who breaks the ice in a meeting. He/she is open to venture into something new or do something daring when he/she feels confident.

(G) Adherence to the Rules

Detachment from the rules

28%

Category Result: This is a person who would be a transgressor and even a nonconformist. He/she would not abide by rules or evade them due to a lack of internalization or because he/she does not agree with the dominant values. He/she would be a casual person. He/she questions the status-quo and the reasons for the rules.

(F) Liveliness

Serious

33%

Category Result: This is a person who would be serious, quiet, sober, mature, and reliable. However, he/she could present disinterest, dissatisfaction, and pessimism as a result of her/his current state (for example disinterest in the test) or of his/her personality. He/she would not be very spontaneous.

(E) Dominance

Adaptable

60%

Category Result: This person will adapt according to the situation and the skills of the other people in the group. He/she may give way on certain issues, but will defend his/her point of view on very important issues.

(C) Emotional Stability

Emotionally unstable

22%

Category Result: This is a person who would have high anxiety as a result of his/her current life situation or personality. He/she may have feelings of discomfort and poor self-esteem. He/she would tend to feel a lack of control over personal and/or work challenges and would react emotionally rather than adopt adaptive or proactive attitudes.

(B) Reasoning

Low intelligence

25%

Category Result: This is a person who has little mental capacity for studies and might be slow to learn and grasp things. He/she is inclined to concrete and literal interpretations. This may be due to a lack of intellectual capacity or the influence of psychopathological factors that limit his performance. He/she may have little interest in answering questions.

(A) Kindness

Balanced affectivity

53%

Category Result: This is a person who usually has a good ability to enter into relationships with others. However, he/she needs "personal space", time alone. He/she often fluctuates between sociability and a need for isolation. He/she is generous and kind to the people he/she likes, but may be less so to people he/she does not trust or has just met.
